

BOULDER MEDICAL CENTER, P.C.

Contracted Insurance Carriers

Insurance carriers have a variety of plans. The HMO and PPO varieties both require contracts between the insurance company and the physician. The carrier agrees to pay the money directly to the physician in a timely fashion and recommend the physician to large groups of patients that may not otherwise know of the doctor. The physician in turn helps hold costs down by accepting a contracted rate for services and by handling the billing and many referral issues for the patient. Contracts are signed and expire often, so if you have an HMO or PPO check with your insurance carrier to make sure Boulder Medical Center is still contracted with your carrier.

As of January 2011, the Boulder Medical Center is contracted with the following plans:

- Aetna EPO/PPO (Open Choice) Indemnity, NAP, POS/HMO/QPS/US Access- CU Boulder student insurance
