

Boulder Medical Center IM West Patient/Family Advisory Council

Boulder Medical Center believes that patients and family caregivers are respected and essential partners in the aim to deliver patient- and family-centered care. Providers and staff at Internal Medicine West recognize that partnering with patients and family caregivers to improve processes, procedures, and care delivery is crucial to ensuring that the care delivered to patients meets their needs and achieves the practice's goals of access, communication, and high quality care. To meet this goal we have formed a patient/family advisory council that includes providers.

Our advisory council meets four times per year at BMC in a non-formal and comfortable setting that allows for open conversations and the sharing of ideas between patients and staff. We encourage our council members to come with questions and suggestions that will help improve our practice's workflow, communication, or other services.

We invite you to learn more about our advisory council by calling 303-440-3268 or by talking with your provider.
